

ONE RUSTY BAND

They are two and sound like five. An electric show where 70's guitar riffs, powerful voices and explosive tap rhythms mingle. A wild blues rock halfway between Hendrix and Seasick Steeve for a sound and visual journey with Greg's handmade instruments, Léa's percussions and acrobatics. One man band, radiator guitar, tap dancing, washboard, combined with a furious desire to share their world... an unlikely duo!

One rusty band is the explosive encounter of two worlds: Greg, musician, sound engineer (live, studio and theater in Geneva) and Léa circus performer and percussionist. What joins them is their passion for rock, funk and soul music. They met in Geneva but it was in 2015, in Toulouse, that the duo took shape. It was born from the desire to build, to test something together and from the rather basic need to play in the street to pay the rent. At this time Greg was already touring with his one man band formula, Léa joined him with her percussion, her tap dancing and her experience of the stage (she trained herself in circus school in Argentina, Spain and Mexico and was touring a solo show). Then quite naturally the group will go from the street to the stage. Between 2015 and 2022 they played more than 300 concerts, in France, Belgium, Estonia, Italy, India in festivals such as « Cognac blues passion », « Guitare en scène ». As in different hall, the Echonova, the Novomax... Or street art festivals like « les fondues du macadam », « l'Horizon fait le mur ». Playing before artist like Jeff Beck, Poppa Chuby, Kingfish, Ayron Jones... During the first years of touring, in contact with the public, the show and the music will evolve. They set up their small home studio, to compose, work and perfect their songs and in autumn 2019 released their album " Voodoo Queen ".

An album that is composed like an adventure, a road trip to live in one shot with, in the sound the desire to transcribe in the best way possible the energy of live.

The concept of the duo : do it yourself !! They compose together, Greg records and mixes, Léa takes care of the graphics and they shoot and edit their video with a cameraman friend Louis Devaux.

In 2020, 2021, as for many artists, the situation, the reduction of the number of lives gave them time to compose a new opus which will be released in autumn 2022. "One more dance" is an energetic album with Influence compositions from all walks of life, there is danceable funk, raw rock, or even titles that go back to the roots of the blues, all sprinkled with calmer songs, a novelty for the group.

A more produced album which allows them to go deeper into things, where the lyrics are more mature than on "Voodoo Queen" but which still has no other ambition than to make people dance in the shower or on their sofa!

At One rusty band, we find a DIY culture that is close to their hearts and allows them total freedom. Their goal: to get the music rolling as much as possible and above all to get on stage to share it with the public!
